ASCENDING THE SERMITSIALIK GLACIER.

The side of the glacier where we made the ascent sloped at an angle of thirty degrees. There was much foreign matter—stones, rocks, and sand—on the ice, which deprived it entirely of a slippery character. A dreary scene met us when we had reached the summit. Imagine the rapids and river above Niagara congealed to the bottom, and we in the center of the frozen stream; imagine Lake Erie equally solid, and the fall itself a wall of ice, and no bad idea will be obtained, on a small scale, of our surroundings. Lake Erie represents in miniature, the great mer de glace, the rapids and the river the glacier pouring from it, and the frozen fall itself the glacier front. The horseshoe, however, would be reversed. Below the fall the unfrozen ford is represented by the river winding to Ontario.

The river like character of the ice-stream was very marked. On every side there were the same indications of movement as in running water, only with this difference, that while the river from bank to bank is straight upon the surface, that of the glacier is curved on either side forming two gorges.

The glacier at the point we proposed to cross over was of somewhat greater width than its front where it projects into the ford—about two miles and a half, as subsequent observations proved. To cross, it was found upon trial, to be no easy matter, for it was broken by clefts, into which there was constant danger of falling, as we were compelled to spring over them. These clefts, or crevasses, were generally parallel, running inward and upward from the shore at an angle of forty degrees In places they were very near together, only a few yards separating them; in other places they were twenty or thirty yards apart. Sometimes they ran into and crossed each other, although preserving a general sameness of direction—a circumstance which gave to our journey its dangerous character; for as we followed the ridges between the crevasses we were often brought up where two united, and were compelled to spring an unfathomable abyss, or to retrace our steps and seek a better track. Sometimes we did the one, sometimes the other. Luckily we were both sure of foot.

We reached the middle of the stream, however, without any serious difficulty. Here there was a dead level for about two miles, and the ice was very little disturbed. The e were in fact, no crevasses at all, but on the contrary, a number of rivulets gurgling along over their crystal beds, sparkling in the bright morning sunshine, and meandering between their banks in search of the nearest cleft where to plunge down and find their way to the rocky bed of the glacier. Looking up the glacier over this level stretch, it presented a most distorted aspect where the ice had poured over a precipice, forming as it had come down, a series of ragged escalades, which might be likened to the steps of some giant temple. Indeed, it was a stairway befitting the grand palaces of nature which lie away upon the mountain tops beyond.

This was not my first experience in an ice wilderness, but I never witnessed such a scene without emotion. There is something in it which impresses the mind with awe; something almost terrible in the boundless desolation. God seems nearer in these deserts.

Alarming sounds occasionally issued from the great thickness of ice beneath us, as if the monster glacier rested uneasily in its bed. These sounds often were very loud. They were occasioned by strain upon the ice as the glacier slowly moved along, as has been already mentioned, opening wider in one place a crevasse already formed, closing another or perhaps creating a new one. I should not, indeed, have been surprised, although I should doubtless have been much alarmed, had a yawning chasm opened beside me or beneath my feet.

Crossing the middle portion of the glacier with care, we approached the shore, and began to descend as we had before ascended. And now the troubles and dangers which we had before experienced with the crevasses were greatly multiplied. It became often a serious question whether we should be able to proceed at all; whether we should not be forced to retreat. The ice had been much more disturbed than on the opposite side, and the crevasses were often of such great width that we could not spring over them; and after wandering to and fro, jumping here and there as best we could, sliding about and risking our necks continually, we were several times forced to take the backward track, and do over again what we had done with so much labor.

At length our case became desperate. After much effort we found ourselves out upon a very acute angle, with a deep crevasse on either side, the two having crossed each other; but from one side a large fragment had split off, and as one sometimes sees in mountain gorges where a falling rock has wedged itself in between the walls, so this fragment had became jammed, forming a natural bridge, the top of which was sharp, like the roof of a house, and as slippery as the house roof would be if covered with sleet, Yet to take this bridge or turn back were the only alternatives. A very decided disinclination to repeat our numerous former hazardous leaps, coupled with a feeling of pride, won the day for the bridge; so we tossed hats for the first venture, and the lot fell to me. Getting upon all fours I slid down a deep slope as best I could, and came to the sharp crest of the bridge, which I straddled and then propelled myself along by a series of jumps. When at the middle I looked down on either side into a yawning depth of blue. I heard the roar of waters rushing beneath me, but I could see nothing except the darkness most profound in which the chasm terminated. It fairly made my head giddy, and I am free to confess that I would gladly enough have been back whence I had started. But to retreat I could not, even if so disposed, as it was not possible to turn round, and I could not go backward. There was nothing, therefore, to do but push ahead, and this I did, cheered on by captain, who insisted that I should be sure not to break the bridge down, as he wanted to use it. Thus encouraged I continued to bound along; and, without any worse results than a rather more than usually animated state of the heart, I found myself on the opposite bank. The captain followed in the same manner, but neither of us desired to repeat the experiment. The next crack we sprang required a leap of eight feet. The sides were sloping and slippery, and in consequence of slightly missing my footing in the leap, I did not land fairly on my legs. As I felt myself going back and sliding into the cleft, I experienced that horrid sensation which comes over one only at the near prospect of death, when one is without the chance for a struggle. The captain's hand put out in season, probably saved me from going down headlong. Soon afterward we reached dry land, thankful that our adventures was well over.—Dr. Hayes, in Harper's Magazine.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

The Evangelical Alliance has sent out the following programme for the week of prayer, for observance throughout the Christian world.

Sunday, Jan 7.—Sermons: the Faith once delivered to the saints; a universal and everlasting bond of union in the Christian church; the duty of its defence and extention binding on all believers.

Monday. Jan. 8.—Thanksgiving—God's unspeakable gift; for mercies personal and relative; for national mercies, the maintenance and restoration from famine and other national calamities; for mercies in the Christian church; for mercies in the Christ's kingdom and the usefulness of the Christian ministry.

Tuesday, Jan. 9.—Humiliations—for personal and national sins, weakness of faith, disobedience and worldliness in the church; acknowledgments of divine judgments, confessions of unfaithfulness and prayer for the revival of religion as in past times.

Wednesday, Jan. 10.—Prayer—for families; sons and daughters of Christian parents at home or in other lands; also for those at school, at colleges, at universities; and for all entering upon commercial and professional duties; for the increase of spiritual life in those who confess Christ; for the conversion of the unconverted; and for the sanctification of affection both to parents and children.

Thursday, Jan. 11.—Prayer—for kings and all in authority; for nations, especially those recently visited with the calamities of war; for the prevalence of peace in the councils of states men; for the righteousness, harmony and good will among all classes; for the spread of sound knowledge; for God's blessing upon special efforts to resist the progress of infidelity, superstition, intemperance, and all other kinds of immorality.

Friday, Jan. 12.—Prayer for the Christian church; for bishops, proselytes, pastors and missionaries, for translators of the Holy Scriptures into other tongues: for office bearers and committees, societies and authors engaged in christian work.

Saturday, Jan. 13.—Prayer—for a larger outpouring of the Holy Spirit: for an increase of christian love and holy zeal, and the union of believers in prayer and effort for God's glory.

Sunday, Jan. 14.—Sermons—'Thy kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven.'—Matthew, 6, 10.

An action was decided in Philadelphia last week by Judge Thayer, in favor of a husband who had been sued by a dry goods firm for the amount of a bill run up by his wife. Defence set up that the defendent furnished his wife with an ample supply of necessaries. In the course of his charge Judge Thayer said: "It is a false and foolish notion for tradespeople to entertain, that a husband is bound to pay all bills contracted by his wife. No such monstrous doctrine is allowed in the law. Tradesmen must ascertain the facts and the true relations of man and wife before allowing the latter to run up bills which he is to be looked to for pay."

A LESSON.

A laboring man, coming out of one of the gin shops of London a few years ago saw a carriage and a pair of horses standing near the door, and two women, richly dressed, came out of the building, the lower story of which was occupied as a dram shop, and were handed into the carriage by the proprietor of the gin palace. The laborer stepped back into the bar room and asked the owner:

'Whose is that establishment?'

The man of the gin replied,

'It is mine, and my wife and daughter have gone out to ride.'

The laboring man bowed his head for a moment, and then looked up and said with an energy that made the man of gin think his customer had a sudden a tack of delerium tremens:

'I see it! I see it!'

'See what?'

'See where my wages for years have gone. I helped pay for that carriage, and for those horses, and for the silks and laces and jewelry for your family; the money that I have earned, that I should have used to furnish my wife and children a good home and good food and clothing, I have paid you and with my wages, and the wages of other laboring men, you have supported your family in elegance and luxury. Hereafter my wife and children shall have the benefit of my labor, and I will endeavor to persuade my fellow workmen to do as I intend, with the help of heaven hereafter—give up entirely the use of intoxicating liquors, and care for my own, remove them into a comfortable house as soon as possible, save my wages and you man of gin, must work or starve. I see it! I see it! The curse and the remedy—the poison and the antidote.'

Here was a man who saw the evil and resolved that he would instantly apply the remedy.

LECTURE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE BY REV. W. H. H. MURRAY.

Mr. Murray repeated his lecture on woman sufferage in Music Hall, Tuesday evening, Dec 12th, which was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. The lecture commenced by saying that he supposed this reform had made so much progress that the right of woman to share in the government is now admitted by all; but the great burden of proof, in order to secure that, needs to be brought out. He held that if by the exercise of the franchise women should lose a single feminine quality, if women were to lose their purity, it were better to make cages for them than to give them the ballot. The question is what would be the effects upon woman if she received the right of suffrage. If any bad effect comes to woman from suffrage it must be from something inherent in suffrage itself; or it must come from the associations at the polls, or it must be in woman's nature which exposes her to loss of virtue by contact with man. Mr. Murray paid a high tribute to the nature of woman, whom he thought of as one who has fought her way step by step, but stands in a liberty so partial that the marks of the old cord are still seen on ankle and whist; barred in many cases by cruel prejudice of creditable employment, and, worse than all, her ignorance is urged against her advancement.

It is objected that suffrage will unsex woman, though no facts are adduced to support it. If woman's virtue is the same as man's in its nature, if she sails the same rough sea that he does, how can it be that the motives which ennoble him will debase her. Against the charge that public labors unsex women, I can array a column of facts. I lead you into a school-house, where the delicate women chafe their lives out against the roughest element in the community—are these teachers, as a class, masculine, coarse, unfeminine? From Aspasia to Anna Dickinson has the sex ever been disgraced by appearing upon the platform? Tell me if those brave women who walked among the hospitals were unsexed by their labors amid rude soldiery? Turn to to the Orient, to the ladies who left the refinement of New England; ask the wives of your missionaries if they have been unsexed by their labors. If woman can wash the dirt from the Arab of your streets, if she can educate your children, I submit she can pass, leaning upon the arm of a husband or a brother, and cast a ballot for liberty without loss. To the assertion that the chivalrous feeling of man toward woman will cease, I answer that it will not be so unless she ceases to be womanly. History shows that chivalry increases in proportion as the station of woman's intellect is acknowledged. She has more than refuted the assertions of her enemies, and stands to day the most potent influence in Christendom. Put no stop to that progress; let the central idea work out its own effect. Consider what she has been socially, and then predict what she can do in political life. Away with this objection, plucked as a dead branch from an effete civilization and grafted into a branch of the world's best planting.

What is it to vote? Men think of it as a trivial affair in one breath, and then as all important in the next. To vote is not merely to drop a slip of paper into the box, or to help make rulers. To vote is to express your highest conviction of what is right—to strengthen the intelligence of the nation; to vote is to rule first yourself, and then your fellow men. The ballot symbolizes public order—and who is more interested in order than woman? Who suffers most from anarchy? But, says the objector, the polls are not fit for a lady. Then make it fit. [Applause.] The surroundings are vulgar, say they. I admit it. We are ciphering out a problem with the whole globe looking over our shoulders for the result. You know how close, of old time, was the connection between the polls and religion. If it were true that the ballot is a vile rag and the polls are scenes of wild orgies, than I more boldly insist that the franchise be granted to women for our own salvation. I would introduce our mothers into our caucus rooms—into the public halls. Why is the holy influence of mother banished from our politics? To substantiate his objection the objector takes the ballot dabbled in the cess pool of political corruption, and holding it up, says, Would you have your mothers and wives soil their fingers with that? Instead of the polls being scenes of disorder, rudeness and disorder are the exceptions; and when I have noticed a single tumult, I noticed that it would not have occurred if woman had been there.

But you say women do not desire to vote. I am not discussing wishes, but rights. Men have treated women like dolls so long that I do not wonder they want to remain. If a slave objected to freedom, did that make slavery right? [Applause.] If woman is apathetic, wake her from her sluggishness. Not an argument can be urged for negro suffrage that is not equally appliable to woman suffrage. Give these seamstresses, factory girls and school teachers the ballot, and it will be the interest of the politicians to see they are not cheated. [Applause.] Can we afford to divorce from this government half of the intelligence and two-thirds of the virtue of the country. Woman is called to take her own prejudice by the throat, emancipate her self, learning her power, by her efforts, against your stolid indifference. Shame on the government that gives the ballot to the negro and keeps it from my wife; that lifts a plantation negro to the legislative hall, and denies it to the clear eyed, intelligent woman of the north. I would give the ballot to the negro for his protection; I would give it to the woman that she might protect him and herself too. The reform is in exact harmony with the age. The ballot is an ever enlarging circumference. Four millions s and just inside, but do you think the negro is the end? The time will come when, in the eye of the republic, the Georgia negro will not be considered above the New England woman. An attempt has been made in this city to array religon against this movement. Strong lungs and loud words can always obtain hearers and applause. It has been said that only a few half crazy men are in favor of it, and the speaker himself had received several hints not to commit himself in its favor.

Mr. Murray then mentioned the names of prominent advocates of woman suffrage in the country, and, in conclusion, drew a radient picture of affairs when the reform shall have been successful—when the long lost equality between strength and beauty shall stand at last acknowledged and revealed.—Banner of Light.

A PRINTER'S MISFORTUNE.

[From the American Newspaper Reporter.]

Some years ago, when the writer was a reporter upon an eastern paper it devolved upon him to write for the same edition an account of the presentation of a gold headed cane to the Rev. Dr. Mudge, the clergyman of the place, and the description of a patent hog killing and sausage machine that had just been put in operation at the factory. Now what made Murdge mad was this: The considerate buccaneer who made up the forms got the two locals mixed up in a frightful manner, and when we went to press, something like this was the appalling result:

'Several of the Rev. Dr. Mudge's friends called upon him yesterday, and after a brief conversation the unsuspecting hog was seized by the hind legs and slid along a beam, until he reached the hot water tank. His friends explained the object of their visit, and presented him with a very handsome gold headed butcher, who grabbed him by the tail, swung him round, cut his throat from ear to ear, and in less than a minute the carcass was in the water. There upon he came forward and said there were times when the feelings overpower one, and for that reason he would not attempt to do more than thank those around him, for the manner in which so huge an animal was cut into so many fragments was simply astonishing. The doctor concluded his remarks, when the machine seized him, and in less time than it takes to write it, the hog was cut into fragments and worked up into delicious sausage. The occasion will be long remembered by the doctor's friends, as one of the most delightful of their lives. The best pieces can be obtained for fifteen cents a pound, and we are sure that those who have sat so long under his ministry will rejoice that he has been so handsomely treated.'

Mad? Well about nine o'clock that morning the office had been abandoned by every man but the advertising clerk, and he ascended the roof and robed himself in boiler iron, so that he could watch the venerable gentleman tearing round down there in the street with his congregation, all wearing the panoply of war and carrying butcher knives and things. The next day we explained and apologized but the doctor stopped his subscription and began to take the rival paper.

THE STRATEGETIC CAT.

'Talking about cats,' said Uncle Tim, a regular Yankee, 'puts me in mind of a cat I once owned. Let me tell you about her. She was a maltee; and what that cat didn't know wasn't worth knowin'. Here's one thing she did. In the Spring of '46 I moved into the little old house down on the crooked river. We put our provisions down in the cellar, and the first night we made our beds on the floor. But we didn't sleep. No sooner had it come dark than we heard a tearin' and a squeakin' in the cellar that was awful. I lit a candle and went down. Jernsalem! Talk about rats! I never saw such a sight in all my born days. Every inch of the cellar bottom was covered with them. They run up unto me, and they run over me. I jumped back into the room, and called the cat. She came down and looked! I guess she sat there about ten minutes looking at them rats, and I was awaitin' to see what she would do. By in by she shook her head, and turned about and went up stairs. She didn't care to tackel 'em. That night. I tell ye, there wasn't much sleep. In the morning I called the cat, and couldn't find her. She'd gone. I guessed the rats had frightened her; and to tell the plain truth, I didn't much wonder. Night came again, and the old cat hadn't shown herself. Says Betsy Ann (that's my wife) to me she says, 'Tim, if that old cat don't come back, we'll have to leave this place; the rats will eat us up.'--Says I, 'Just you let the old cat be.' I didn't believe she'd left us for good and all. Just as Betsy Ann was putting the children to bed, we heard a scratching and a waulin' at the outside door. I went and opened it; and there stood the old maltee on the door step, and behind her a whole army of cats, all paraded as regular as ye ever saw soldiers! I let our old cat in and the others followed her. She went right to the cellar door, and scratched there. I began to understand. Old maltee had been out for help. I opened the way to the cellar door, and she marched down, and the other cats tramped after her in regular order—and as they went past I counted fifty six of 'em. Oh, my! if there wasn't a row and a rumpus in that 'ere cellar that night, then I'm mistaken! The next morning the old cat came up and caught hold of my trousers' leg, and pulled me towards the door. I went down and saw the sight. Talk about yer Bunker Hill and Boston massacres! Mercy! I never saw such a sight before nor since. Betsy Ann and me, and my boy Sammy, was all day at hard work as we could be, clearin' the dead rats out of that 'ere cellar! Its a fact—every word of it.'

FUN ABOUT ALEXIS.

The gravest papers are not above attempting little jokes apropos of the arrival of the Russian Prince, among which are the following:

It is a mistake to suppose that Alexis lives on czar dines.

Apprehensions with regard to the safety of the grand duke are dissipated, Alexis isn't.

It is said Horace Greeley was not put on the committee of reception for fear he would advise Alexis to 'go west.'

Alexis is by no means a 'starched up' young man; if he were, the weather yesterday would have completely taken the stiffening out of him.

'Going to see the young Russian lad?' said Jones to Smith, 'No,' retorted the other, with a wink. 'I'm going to see the young Russian off.'

When about to leave New York for Washington, the prince was asked by a lady if he would be back in time for the ball. The prince replied that it mattered little if he did or not, as he was then about going to Baltimore.

The Ruling Passion.—A notorious Indiana 'sporting man' named Westfall was on his death bed, and sent for the minister.

'What can be done for me? anxiously inquired the hardened sinner.

'Repent, and you will be saved,' replied his spiritual adviser.

'Will I go to heaven then?'

'I hope so.'

'And be an angel?'

'Yes.'

'And will I have wings?'

'Yes.'

'Will you go to heaven too?'

'I hope and believe so.'

'Will you be an angel?'

'I hope to be.'

'Will you have wings?'

'Yes.'

'When I get to heaven, and you get to heaven, and I am an angel, and you are an angel, and I have wings and you have wings, I'll fly you for ten dollars.'

Somebody says the Bible, the newspaper and the almanac are the three indispensables of every well regulated home. The Bible was very useful as a family register when it was the fashion to have a dozen or a score of children, but is quite unnecessary now that fashion limits the number to two. And the almanac, with its 'look out for a change of the weather about this time,' has been rendered useless by the correct predictions of the daily press. We suspect that not one B ble out of a hundred ever gets read, and the almanac goes a begging.—Tilton.

MASSILLON

Is on the way to prosperity. Of this there are abundant evidences, which are manifest even to the casual observer. Although there are material improvements going on in the city, while many others are perfected, yet its financial affairs are in a healthy condition. Our municipal authorities who have the care and responsibility of carrying on our corporate affairs, have been commendably cautious, so so far as we know, in not involving the treasury in heavy debts or hazardous or uncertain experiments. Within the past year a number of our principal streets have been greatly improved to the advantage of all using them, and to the credit of those who have them in charge. In this respect coming years will annually add to this important feature of our healthful and growing city.

The past year has likewise numerous landmarks of progress in the way of erecting new buildings, and improving others so as almost to make them new. Every street in the place can point to more or less of this feature of advancement in its growth, and these indications are not of a temporary but a permanent character. Massillon is distinguished more for its solidity than the rapidity of its development, and for this reason it is very rare that we see To Let, or For Sale on any building of suitable use for most of the common purposes of life. This is one of the most healthy signs of our prosperity, and one to which our citizens may point with laudable pride. If a town or city rushes heedlessly along in putting up a great many temporary buildings it is like a patient with a fever, whose rapid pulse impels the life current beyond its wonted rapidity, but who is sure to soon be visited with prostration and chills, the nature of which go to sap the very foundations of life. It is better to go slower, work on a sure basis, and in nine cases out of ten the builders will be fully rewarded for their reasonable enterprise and commendable caution. Large cities like gigantic trees grow rather slow but sure, especially if they would withstand for centuries the buffetings of time.

Our manufactories are extending in variety, and those which have been in existence for years seem to be increasing in permanency and extent. Especially is this the case with the larger establishments. Russell & Co., in addition to their large manufacture of agricultural implements, which have attained such a world wide fame for utility and completeness, have been filling large orders in manufacturing railroad cars—a branch of business which is increasing with unprecedented rapidity. The Excelsior Works, under the management of Mr. Edwin Bayliss, in addition to the limited variety of agricultural machinery once produced there, have lately commenced extending their productions, and now in addition to their harvesters and a few other useful implements, have added half a dozen or more articles of indispensable use to the farmer. Myers & Wilson have a vast number of productions in their establishment, and are rapidly adding thereto, as the needs of their customers and their extending means warrant. Morg & Crawford never permit the hum of their machinery to cease as the demand for their work is great and continually on the increase.

The constant fires of two large furnaces are evidence that this extensive branch of iron manufacture is a source of immense advantage, not only to the enterprising proprietors, but also to the community by which they are surrounded. In connection with these we might say that the iron foundries are working to their utmost capacity in order to meet the demands of their customers.

Mr. Davenport, the large and extensive builder of iron bridges, employs a heavy force of men, and is constantly on the rush to fill the commands of his customers. Our brickmakers are so encouraged in their business that they are about to increase their facilities for making bricks by the million. This is one of the most conspicuous signs of the times.

Thus we might go on enumerating the status, operations and prospects of a host of other manufacturers in our vicinity, but for which we cannot now find room, although all are equally entitled to notice and commendation for their enterprise, skill and prosperity.

Nor would we stop with our manufacturers, although they are of sufficient magnitude to justify much fuller mention, and we hope to recur to the claims of those here unnoticed ere long. But here are scores of business men in commercial and other interests, all of whom we may safely assert are found in a prosperous condition in the beginning of this year of grace, 1872. Our dry goods stores, including the varieties of hat, clothing, millinery &c., making nearly or quite twenty, for anything we can see, are all on the high road to prosperity. Crowds of customers flock to these stores, and are every hour diminishing their stocks for which they leave ample compensation. The indispensable articles of boots and shoes, which are to be had at some half dozen stores in town and which stores are visited by hundreds of customers, none of whom need go away barefoot, or even suffer for the substantial articles there to be had, meet with sales we may say by the cord. And all this selling is not without fair profit to the merchants, who are fully entitled to it by the risks they run, and the accommodations they offer their patrons.

We may safely say that our hardware merchants are doing a driving business in supplying a large and wealthy community with such commodities as no vicinity can dispense with. Everything in that branch of trade can be had at these stores at as fair rates and of as good qualities as can be had any where else in the country.

This brief and imperfect outline of the condition of our city at the beginning of this new year, must answer for a sort of apology for what deserves a much fuller and more extended notice. Imperfect as it is, however, we should feel embarrassed in not alluding to the promising future of the city in the matter of increased railroad communications. This matter, it is true, has often been adverted to in these columns, always in a spirit of hopefulness, but now the realization is coming nearer and nearer in view. Then while our community is cheered by the substantial prosperity of our manufactures of all classes, the success of our merchants in the diversified phases of their callings, and the general improvement of buildings, streets, lights, a park, and a hundred other noteworthy indications of the excelsior sort, how can we but feel encouraged to advance with the rest of the world in adding by our usefulness to the general stock of happiness?

The American Temperance Commission of New York City, in view of the great importance and necessity of the movement, have started the circulation of a petition addressed to congress, asking that measures be taken to so amend the constitution as to forbid holding any office of a national nature from the president down, by any person addicted to the use of intoxicating drinks. Certainly a good and much needed movement, and one which all good citizens will unite in commending. It is a disgrace to our nation that there are so many drunken senators, representatives and other officials as now stain the otherwise fair character of the republic. Everybody ought to sign such a petition, and pile them up before congress like hills and little mountains.

The new proprietor of the Massillon Steam Mills, has just had placed in position the latest improvement in steam boilers, the invention and manufacture we are informed, of Bowman, Kilgore & Co, of Pittsburgh. Water is introduced into a series of V shaped tubes which terminate in a reservoir; fire is placed under these tubes, so as to heat all alike. It is said to require comparatively little fire, and works very efficiently—so much so that an additional series of boilers are being put in place, as more power is needed to run the increased machinery. Five pairs of stones are to be kept constantly running, and large quantities of grain are changed into flour.

Although not advised of the fact in any of our dailies we presume the legislators came together and organized yesterday, if not the day previous. As Gov. Hayes is a practical man he will have a brief message, and direct to the point. Soon after will come the inauguaral of the governor elect, Gen. Noyes.

From reports it seems that the senatorial question is stirring the members of our legislature pretty thoroughly.

On the 15th ult. Gen. Butler introduced into the house of representatives of congress, a bill declaring women entitled to suffrage under the 14 amendment. Mr. B. is an agitator and in introducing this question into the national legislature it will bring about, inevitably, a national discussion of this mooted subject. Just what those laboring women voting want. Get the whole people of the nation interested in discussing this new phase of political action and voting qualification, and the end in favor of the right will soon come.

Big men make big hotel bills. Thus Alexis, the Russian duke, stopped at Cleveland two days, and his hotel expenses were $500, which he paid and no grumbling that we read of. He must have had a good deal of help to run up that amount of fare. Not unlike it was in Kossuth's time. Then hundreds drank liquor on his credit, and his finances had to foot bills. It pays to be big.

For the last month or two in some of the middle states the Friends or Quakers, the papers don't indicate what division of the society, have been making an effort to increase their numbers by having protracted—other churches would call them revival meetings. Speakers of ability and celebrity are laboring in the work, and by the accounts we see, are somewhat successful in inducing inquiry and action. Similar meetings have taken place in the village of Columbiana, 10 miles east of Salem, and the Register says they are well attended. Any of those present are invited to speak.

A state Prohibition convention is to be held at Columbus, commencing on Thursday, February 22d, and may continue two days. All friends of temperance are respectfully invited to be present and participate in the deliberations. This in all probability, may not turn out to be a large gathering, but it will be one of that class which will arrest attention and provoke discussion, and where this is the case we need not fear the result.

Politicians have often times been warned about these movements, and manifest a disposition to underrate them, but this seeming indifference wont save them from ultimate defeat, if they fail to heed the warnings so signally manifested.

The legislature met Monday, both houses organized. Hall, republican, elected clerk of senate. Mr. Wales favored us with the governor's brief message. Other items crowded out.

NEW RAILROAD.—The certificate of incorporation of the Wheeling and Tuscarawas Valley Railroad Company was filed with the Secretary of State, Tuesday. The company is organized to construct a railroad from the southern terminus of the Lake shore and Tuscarawas Valley road, through Tuscarawas, Harrison and Belmont counties, to Wheeling, West Virginia. The capital stock is $2,000,000. The corporators are John McLure, Chapin Oglebay, P. Sweeny, W. W. Holloway, Robert J. Bages, D. P. Rhodes, J. S. Streator, S. Chamberlain and Clement Russell.

Grave fears are felt that the channel of the river will will be turned from the Missouri to the Illinois shore, opposite St. Louis. When the ice gorged above the bridge piers, it grounded in the shallow water in front of the elevator, and when the rain came down, the current striking the lodged ice was directed across the river, and has since been turning like a mill tail down the Illinois shore. It has also impinged the bank at the head of Bloody Island, and has cut its way to within some fifty or sixty yards of the Chicago and Alton Railroad track. If this is not checked the current may cut through to Cahokia creek, in which case the channel of the river would seek its old time course behind the island, and leave St. Louis with a huge bar before it.

At Canton, Ohio, on Thursday night the restaurant owned by C. Oberly & Son was entered by burglars, who succeeded in getting about two hundred and twenty five dollars in money, a valuable watch, and several other articles. Also the boot and shoe store owned by F. Feller was entered and robbed of boots, leather, &c.

The Chicago Times gives a recapitulation of the cases of missing since the fire, showing the impossibility of arriving at an exact estimate as to the number of human beings who perished in the great conflagration. It now distinctly proved that several hundred must have been lost, while some very careful computations place the number at over one thousand.

And so the great Tweed—the Boss of Tammany and of the democratic party, and the senator elect of the New York democracy—is skulking about the city of his residence, dodging the officers of law! Alas for human greatness! How suddenly fallen! The millions of stolen pelf is but canker in his hands; and of all his thoughts the remembrance of how he came by his ill gotten gains is uppermost in and most disturbing to his mind. Nothing else so repulsive, as the memory of what just now constituted his chief pride; and could he only exchange places with the honest laborer whom he sees from his hiding place; how quickly would he make the trade. Having the name too indelibly to be removed, he may. If able, stick to the game; but could he put both away, he would gladly do it.

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will the oughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, SURFEIT, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk from one to twenty per cent., and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article stands as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

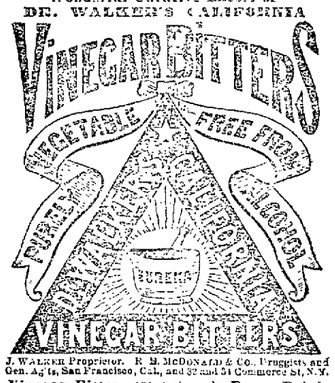
A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to the Wonderful Curative Effects of DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS



J. WALKER Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists and Gen. Ag'ts, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce St. N.Y.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erisipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

ONE MILLION OF LIVES SAVED!

It is one of the remarkable facts of this remarkable age, not merely that so many persons are victims of dyspepsia or indigestion, but its willing victims. Now we would not be understood to say that any one regards dyspepsia with favor, or feels disposed to rank it among the luxuries of life. Far from it. Those who have experienced its torments would scout such an idea. All dread it, and would gladly dispense with its unpleasant familiarities. There are diseases more acute and painful, and which more frequently prove fatal; but none, the effects of which are more distressing to the body. If there is a wretched being in the world it is

A CONFIRMED DYSPEPTIC.

But it not our intention to discant on the horrors of dyspepsia. To describe them truthfully is simply an impossibility. We have said that dyspepsia is perhaps the most universal of human diseases. This is emphatically the case in the United States. Whether this general prevalence is due to the character of the food, the method of its preparation, or the hasty manner in which it is usually swallowed, is not our province to explain. The great fact with which we are called to deal is this:

DYSPEPSIA PREVAILS

almost universally.

Nearly every other person you meet is a victim, an apparently willing one; for were this not the case, why so many sufferers, when a certain, speedy and safe remedy is within the reach of all who desire to avail themselves of it? But says a dyspeptic, What is this remedy? to which we reply, This great alleviator of human suffering is almost as widely known as the English language. This acknowledged; a fact is none other than

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Would you know more of the merits of this wonderful medicine than can be learned from the experience of others? Try it yourself, and when it has failed to fulfil the assurance of its efficacy given by the proprietor, then abandon faith in it.

LET IT BE REMEMBERED

first of all, that Hoofland's German Bitters is not a rum beverage.

They are not alcoholic in any sense of the term. They are composed entirely of the pure juice or vital principle of roots. The extracts from which they are compounded are prepared by one of the ablest German chemists. The objections which hold with so much force against preparations of this class, namely—that a desire for intoxicating drinks is stimulated by their use, are not valid in case of the German Bitters. Their effects can be in all cases of the biliary system. Hoofland's German Bitters stand without an equal, acting promptly and vigorously on the liver; they remove its torpidity and cause healthful secretion of the bile. They impart vigor and strength to the entire system, causing the patient to feel like another being—in fact, giving him a new lease of life.

THEY PURIFY THE BLOOD,

cleansing the vital fluid of all hurtful impurities and supplanting them with the elements of genuine healthfulness. In a word, there is scarcely a disease in which they cannot be safely and beneficially employed; but in the generally prevalent distressing and dreaded disease, dyspepsia,

THEY STAND UNRIVALED.

Now, there are certain classes of persons to whom extreme bitters are not only unpalatable, but who find it impossible to take them without positive discomfort. For such has been prepared. It is intended for use where a slight alcoholic stimulant is required. This tonic contains all the ingredients of the bitters, but so flavored as to remove the extreme bitterness.

HOOFLAND'S TONIC

acts with almost marvelous effect. It not only stimulates the flagging and wasting energies, but invigorates and permanently strengthens its action upon the liver and stomach thorough, perhaps less prompt than the Bitters, when the same quality is taken; none the less certain. Indigestion, biliousness, physical or nervous prostration, yield readily to its potent influence. It gives strength to weakness, throws despondency to the winds, and starts the restored invalid upon a new and gladsome career. But Dr. Hoofland's benefactions to the human race are not confined to his celebrated or his invaluable Tonic. He has prepared another medicine, which is rapidly winning its way to popular favor because of its intrinsic merits. This is a perfect substitute for mercury, without any of mercury's evil qualities.

GERMAN BITTERS,

These wonderful pills which are intended to act upon the liver, are mainly composed of Podophyllin, or the VITAL PRINCIPLE OF MANDRAKE ROOT.

Now we desire the reader to distinctly understand that this extract of the Mandrake is many time more powerful than the Mandrake itself. It is the medical virtues of this wild growing plant in a perfectly pure and highly concentrated form. Hence it is that two of the Pod physilin pills constitute a full dose, while only a here six to eight or a handful of other preparations of the Mandrake are required. The Podophyllin stimulating its functions and causing it to make its biliary secretions in regular and proper quantities. The injurious results which invariably follow the use of mercury is entirely avoided by their use.

Possessing desirable qualities, the Podophyllin becomes invaluable as a

FAMILY MEDICINE

No household should be without them. They are perfectly safe, require but two for an ordinary dose; are prompt and efficient in action, and when used in connection with Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, or Tonic, may be regarded as certain specifics in all cases of liver complaint dyspepsia, or any of the disorders to which the system is ordinarily subject. The act upon the stomach and bowels, carrying off improper obstructions, while the Bitters or Tonic purify the blood.

Cures rheumatism, neuralgia toothache chilblains, sprains, burns, pain in the back, and loins, by external application.

Taken internally cures, heart burn, kidney diseases, sick headaches, colic, dysentary, cramps, cold and asthma &c. Sent by express to any locality upon application to the principal office, at the German Medicine store, No 651 Arch street, Philadelphia.

THE IMPROVED AMERICAN

Button-Hole, Overseaming,

—AND—

Complete Sewing Machine.

The first and only Button-hole and Sewing machine combined that has made its advent in this or any other country.

☞The following reasons are given why this is the best

Family Machine to Purchase:

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do, sewing from the finest to the coarsest material, hemming, felling, cording, braiding, binding, gathering and sewing on at the same time, ruffling, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because the tensions are more easily adjusted than any other machine.

3. Because it can make a beautiful button hole, making as fine a pearl as by hand.

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment.

5. Because it will make a beautiful eyelet hole

6. Because it can do overhand seaming, by which sheets, pillow cases, and the like are sewed over and over.

7. Because you can quickly raise or lower the feed to adapt it to thick or thin cloth.

8. Because you have a short deep bobbin by which the thread is constantly drawn from the center; the tension is consequently even and does not break the thread.

9. Because the presser foot turns back; that the cloth can be easily removed after being sewed.

10. Because the best mechanics pronounce it the best finished and made on the best principle of any machine manufactured.

11. Because it has a better shuttle than any other machine.

12. Because it runs easier and quieter than any other heavy machine.

13. Because it is two machines in one—a button hole working and sewing machine combined.

It is to last a lifetime, and therefore one is wanted that will do the most work, and do it the best, and this machine can do several kinds of sewing not done on any other machine, besides doing every kind that all others can do.

The American or Plain Sewing Machine

Is a beautiful family and light manufacturing machine, possessing all the superior qualities of the combined machine, except making button holes and overseaming. In all other respects the principal of construction is the same.

These Machines are Warranted.

Please read the following letter from a reliable druggist?

Mt Vernon, Ill., April 29, 1871.

Messrs. J N Harris & Cincinnati, O.

Gentlemen—I heard one of my customers speak in such high terms of Allen's Lung Balsam to-day, that I thought I would write for the substance of his statement. He says his mother, who is now sixty years of age, has suffered with consumption for several years, and has been under the care of all our best physicians, but never received any permanent benefit, then she resorted to almost every kind of cough and lung balsam that could be procured for her, but all of no avail. She still grew worse, until she was confined to her bed; and when she was seized with a paroxysm of coughing she would lose the power of respiration, and they were compelled to resort to various means to restore breathing; and while she coughed so hard she could not expectorate anything and the family and friends had given up all hopes of her recovery. Her son noticed the advertisement of Allen's Lung Balsam in the Christian Advocate, and they thought they would procure and try it. They commenced giving her the balsam at 5 p m., as directed, a dose every hour until midnight; then she took another spell of coughing, and expectorated a mouthful of dark yellow matter, which was something she had not been able to do for some time. They continued to give her the balsam until morning and then she began to expectorate freely, and within three hours she had expectorated three pints of mucus matter, which gave her immediate relief, and since that time she has continued to improve. She now sits up all day, and can walk about the house and take considerable out-door exercise. Her son bought more of the balsam to-day, and he is recommending it very highly to every one. Your, respectfully,

A C JOHNSON, Druggist.

Was there ever greater proof of merit than the case this letter refers to?

Allen's Lung Balsam is without doubt the best expectorant remedy ever offered to the afflicted public. It contains no opium in any form, and its use is harmless to the most delicate. ☞Directions accompany each bottle. J N HARRIS & Co Prorietors.

An open Temperance Meeting will be held tomorrow evening, Thursday the 4th, at Good Templars' Hall, on Erie street, over the National Union bank, to be addressed by Rev Mr. Dean, rector of St Timothy's Episcopal church, commencing at 7 o'clock Others may be present who will also speak Music will be provided for the occasion All are invited as the meeting is free

Mr. J. H. Temple, who spoke on the subject of Liberal Christianity on the evening of the 17th ult. will be here again on Sunday the 14th inst, and speak at three o'clock p m. and at seven in the evening. Further information will be given hereafter as to the place of speaking, and the probable themes he will discuss. As his first effort here has elicited discussion on the merits of his teachings all are cordially invited to come, hear and judge for themselves.

Lectures on Egypt and the Holy Land will be delivered by Mr. M J Dennis, at the Christian church in this place, on Thursday and Friday evenings, the 4th and 5th inst commencing at 7 o'clock. The theme is one of decided interest to all Christians, as thousands of associations of interest are connected with this portion of the earth. From the printed notice we receive this lecture will be worthy the attention of our people.

Lecture free.

The Herald of Health for January contains a remarkable lecture, delivered by Prof. Benjamin Waterhouse, M. D, to the students of Harvard University in the year 1805, on the effects of tobacco, drink, and licentiousness on the health of students which every young man should read. Parents, be sure to put it in your son's hands; also a very excellent article on the care of children by Dr. Clemence S. Lozier. Every mother should have it. Published by Wood & Holbrook, 15 Laight st., N. Y., at $2 per annum, with premium book: $1.25 without premium.

Capt. Hoskin, of this place, whose fine residence and premises on Main st, in this city, have been advertised for sale in the Independent, the other day disposed of this desirable property, to a gentleman of Youngstown, for eight thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars. The purchaser has possessed himself of one of the most desirable locations in the city, and although the amount paid seems large to many, he has no reason to complain of the judiciousness of his investment. The most we regret about it is the loss of such good citizens as Capt. H. and his estimable lady—as we understand they contemplate going east to live.

The trustees of West Massillon school house, a fine, new building on Tremont st., have introduced a steam heater in the basement, with pipes leading into the various rooms, for the purpose of keeping them warm and comfortable during the cold weather. Though somewhat expensive to fix up at first, in time it will be found to be the best plan. There are no stoves to look after and endanger the house from fire; and as the pipes surround the rooms there are no cold corners in which shivering children may be put, but the air is equably warm, and will tend to make the schoolhouse a pleasant, cheerful place in which to instruct the rising generation.

The New York Observer Year Book for 1872 of nearly 200 pages, is well crowded with information on numerous subjects. It embraces chronology, astronomy, commerce, ecclesiastical statistics, education, agriculture, and concludes with miscellaneous matters The book is a most useful annual to all classes of people, and like that of 1871 it will be sought for very extensively.

Miller's Troupe of dramatists performed successfully at Canton several nights of last week, and on Monday and Tuesday evenings they occupied the Opera house of this place, presenting the Hidden Hand and Uncle Tom's Cabin. Their patrons were generally satisfied with the performances.

Chicago has passed through the kaleidescope so often—that is, has been presented to the public in a great variety of shapes since the fire last October, that it would seem impossible to interest the public in a new phase. But McDonald of New York has got it up in the way of maps and illustrations in a very tasteful manner, and manages to embody much information in his seemingly brief document.

Mr. Doxsee, proprietor of the Union Mills is about to place one of the improved steam boilers in his mill, so greatly is he in favor its advantages.

We don't go anything on new year's addresses by newspapers to their patrons, but the beautifully printed specimen sent out by the Mansfield Herald, for 1872, is enough to challenge the admiration of all who admire fine press work as well as admirable typographical arrangement. The address is passable rhyme, but can hardly be claimed model poetry.

We briefly alluded to the fact last week that Mr. and Mrs. Fay made this place a visit, and gave some of our people what they called spirit demonstrations At first the thing wore a plausible appearance to some of us, and for this reason we wished to not be too hasty in coming to conclusions adverse to their claims. But further exhibitions, especially as connected with the fact that the same Mr. F visited this place but a few years ago on the mission of exposing spiritualism, with many suspicions that all the feats were tricks, seem to lead our community to the conclusion that the while show is a humbug. What may be regarded as true spiritualism needs no such adventitious aid, in our opinion, as shows of this character. There is too much humbug in them.

A circular has been forwarded to this office by the secretary of the Ohio Dairymens' Association which announces that a convention of persons in that business will hold their eighth annual convention at Wellington, Lorain county, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 24th and 25th insts. The programme of business proposed indicates that questions of importance to the association will come up for consideration. Gentlemen of acknowledged ability are to be present, who will discuss the various points assigned them in the way of lectures.

Kelly & Pepper, who have been so actively and successfully engaged the past season in making bricks, contemplate next summer making at least one million. This enterprise will be rewarded no doubt by the liberal patronage they will receive, as they can easily dispose of them, for they make a good article.

The American Odd Fellow begins its thirteenth volume with the January number. This publication is worthy of all praise. As a family magazine, it takes the highest rank. Read it, and be satisfied. In the valuable and interesting contents of this issue we find: Original stories and sketches; An Odd Fellow Abroad; Four beautifully illustrated articles; Humors of the Day; Scientific and Curious Facts; Departments for the Ladies, Children, and Daughters of Rebekah; News of the Order from all sections, &c. Published by the A O F Association, No. 96 Nassau street, New York. $2.50 per year. Each subscriber gets a handsome premium picture.

A portion of the stores were closed a part of new years day—some of them all day. It did not appear to be an active day for business.

New Years day passed off in comparative quiet, and in rather good order, when we think of the many cases of drunkenness, fighting and rowdyism which characterized Christmas day. There were social parties, dinners, family gatherings and other means of enjoying the day agreeably. Some of the church bells were rung, and probably religious services were observed As the day was a pleasant one for the season many people were on the streets, spending it socially.

The weather has been so open for some days that the ice was pretty well used up on the canal, and efforts were made to render it navigable, at least in places.

On account of the stormy condition of the weather Sunday evening some of the churches were not very fully attended. Mr. Dean of the Episcopal church delivered a discourse appropriate to the closing of the year.

The National Inventors' Union Association began their second annual exhibition at Cleveland on the 27th ult. and will continue the same for five weeks. It embraces all the late and novel inventions of the age, as more than seventeen hundred entries have been already made. Here is the place to see progress, advancement, and it may be a sort of pandemonium to stereotyped hunkers to witness even physical improvements—but the age is onward. We are under obligations to the director, Mr. Carr, for a complimentary invitation to visit this, one of the great exhibitions of the age.

Reports say that the people of Fulton are beginning to warm up certain of the liquor sellers of that place. It is not improbable but that is the case, for they have a way of doing these things in some localities.

That great fire at Chicago, although reported as very hot, failed to burn out the music men of that place, for it seems that harmony and song are too deeply Rooted to be thus disposed of. Root & Cady's Song Messenger comes out as jolly as ever, and the last No. has Mrs. O'Leary's cow's soliloquy about kicking the bucket of milk over, got up in comic style.

SEBASTIAN STUTZ, Surveyor and Civil Engineer. Office Erie street, above Union National Bank, Massillon, O. 441

A large number of the papers, in their latest issues, have made the discussion of Christmas a leading theme. We have not taken time to read all these incubrations, and if any one has done so perhaps he is a great deal wiser than before, though it may be difficult to tell in what this increased wisdom consists. Christmas comes but once a year, and therefore many seem to regard it as a proper theme for ventilating themselves in words if not in ideas. To some of us it is no more than any other day in the year and for that reason is entitled to no more consideration than any of the other 364 days But it is past, the speeches about it are printed, and the world wags on, as if nothing unusual transpired.

Although last Saturday was a rather lowering day, threatening thaw and rain, the town was unusually crowded with people. Being the last business day of the year hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity to come to town and trade, and this made it one of active business for our merchants of various classes. A great many goods were disposed of on that day, and buyers and sellers were mutually benefited in their transactions.

Massillon, O., Dec. 10, 1871.—441-3m

Gustavus Adolphus—a rather big tail to a very little body—in writing his account for the American of the 20th ult, about the meeting for which Mr. Temple lectured two or three Sundays since, gives the reader to infer that two of the most important personages present were himself and the yeller dog. In consequence of the humidity of the hall, it is supposed, the dog, one of these important personages, for fear of a dose of quinine or a shake of the ague, left his friend who sat thus alone, (with forty others) and by this mishap lost an evening's sparking. If this is a specimen of the productions of that brilliant spark, sure it is he went burn the canal soon, and the ancient Swedish captain will never give him a vote of thanks for his coruscations of wit. And some one writing here for a Canton paper, like the noted G. A, appears worried about Mr. T's preaching. Well, if that first effort has waked up some of our notable writers it is encouraging for Mr T. to make us another visit, which he will do on Sunday the 14th inst. As it is expected that Mr. T. will speak in the day time G. A. and the yellet dog can come, so the former need not lose a Sunday night's visit to his duck, and the dog may find a more comfortable floor.

Contractors on the railroad are about to begin operations here, or near this place, in a very short time. They are making the necessary preparations for active business, and for this purpose have given

Myers & Willison a contract, a firm well prepared for such work, for making carts and other needed appliances, and perhaps wheelbarrows, in order to facilitate the completion of the job. This is the right policy—employ our home mechanics and manufacturers And while these men have shown such practical wisdom in giving the energetic firm of Myers & Willison such work as they want, they will very probably find that the Excelsior Works of E Bayliss can furnish them other apparatus which may prove indispensable. And when the road is completed right here is the large Russell establishment ready to build cars of all descriptions they may need. If the railroad proves useful to this place, it may be found on examination that Massillon is somewhat indispensable to the prosperity of the road.

Sunday forenoon was unusually warm for the season—enough so to have the presence of a heavy thunder storm accompanied with fine showers, which were very welcome.

Fruits & flowers are not in season now, but to while away pleasantly a lonely, leisure hour, these long winter nights, or to enjoy with lightened pleasure the companionship of dear friends in the social circle, you have only to procure a box of E T Pilkinton's Fruits & Flowers smoking tobacco. A puff of this delicious weed will thrill your whole body with exquisite delight, and you will pronounce the maker a benefactor to mankind. For sale by G. W. Demuth. 444 3w

Notwithstanding the hard times complained of by some of our people the delinquent tax list, which appears in the last Rep & Rep, is not of extraordinary length. Some localities have a pretty fair representation there, but Perry township is very slim, and Massillon, with all its additions, has about one fourth as many delinquents as Canton, and one fifth as many as Lexington township, including Alliance. Taking all together the exhibition is not unfavorable to the financial prosperity of Stark county.

About the time religious services in the churches were concluded, on Sunday evening—perhaps a little before—shooting off of the old year began, and was kept up pretty much all night, at least long enough to shoot in the new year, for somebody kept banging away till Monday morning. At about midnight of Sunday some of the church bells were rung, and during a large portion of the hours of the same night a band was on the streets, welcoming eighteen and seventy-two in joyous strains of harmony.

Those who have not yet put up ice had better do so on first opportunity, for though there may be considerable of freezing yet the possibility is, the hardest is over.

Mr. Vick's beautiful catalogue of plants and flowers for 1872 contains the following table of useful figures. It indicates what number of plants can be placed on an acre of ground at certain distances apart:

Inches apart.	Acre.	Plants.
6X 6	1	174,240
12X 12	1	43,560
18X 18	1	19,360
24X 12	1	21,780
24X 24	1	10,890
36X 24	1	7,260
36X 36	1	4,840

That fog which rose on Saturday night with similar phenomena on Sunday, and the thunderstorm accompanied with a very fine series of showers, looked like a premature January thaw. Certain it was a most welcome visitant (the rain) for we have had little since the 2d ult., and for a long time previous it was dry—dry.

It may seem early, but some of the birds are among us warbling their cheerful music even now in the time of mid winter.

An invaluable remedy for emigrants and persons traveling or temporarily visiting malarious districts, is to be found in Simmons' Liver Regulator. If taken occasionally it will prevent chills, fevers, and injurious effects from the change of water.

Twenty-five cents.—This amount will buy a bottle of Mrs. Whitcomb's Syrup, the great soothing remedy for all diseases incident to infants and children.

Remove the cause—Costiveness, which produces serious and often fatal diseases, is removed by the use of Dr. Henry's Root and plant pills. See advertisement. 444-4w

The Secret of Captivation.—Features of Grecian mould, a well turned neck and beautifully rounded arms are no doubt very nice things to have, and ladies who possess these charms have reason to be thankful to Mother Nature, yet after all, the most captivating of all womanly charms is a pure, fresh and brilliant complexion. This superlative fascination any lady may secure by using Hagan's Magnolia Balm, the standard beautifying preparation of the present age. It differs from all ordinary cosmetics in three most essential particulars, inasmuch as it contains no injurious ingredients, does not contract or shrivel the skin as all the astringent bloom, lotions and powders eventually do, but produces a lasting loveliness by improving the health of the skin. Under its operation the texture of the epidermis becomes finer, and the surface soft as velvet and smooth as porcelain. Features cannot be changed, but complexions can, and it is quite certain that a lady with no other charm than a fresh and rosy complexion, will attract more attention in company than her neighbor with a classic face but sallow skin.

To those who are bowed down by nervous debility, and despair of ever recovering the vigor and men of manhood we earnestly recommend Dr. Walkers California Vinegar Bitters. Before they have finished the first bottle, they will feel the restorative principle at work in every portion of their broken down systems and hope will spring up in their hearts, No case of dyspepsia, intermittent fever, or kidney diseases, can resist this unequalled vegetable tonic which is unpolluted by any distilled or fermented liquor. 444 4w

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. 444-1y

THE AMERICAN WASHER!
PRICE, $3 50.

The American Washer saves Money, Time, and Drudgery.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no longer dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting. It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a quilt to a lace curtain or cambric handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the Little Gem! It can be fastened to any tub and taken off at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once become fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper, and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this great labor saver, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly. Sole agents for the United States,

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE, as diplomas at office will show, has been longer engaged in the treatment of Venereal, Sexual and Private Diseases than any other physician in Pittsburg.

Spermatorrhea, Sexual Debility and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excesses in maturer years, or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of females, loss of memory and sexual power rendering marriage improper, are permanently cured.
